Main conclusions

The draft SPG will have positive impacts on the local economy through providing guidance on new tourist accommodation proposals. There may be both positive and negative impacts on biodiversity as there may be new development in rural areas/open countryside but also opportunities to improve biodiversity in urban areas. The draft SPG includes guidance and requirements on the protection of biodiversity in new developments - this will depend upon the site.

The scoring does not reflect an unsustainable approach, rather that some of the questions are not applicable or appropriate for the content and type of document being assessed.
