Introduction

Denbighshire County Council has adopted a strategic aim of being “a high performing council closer to the community”.

To help achieve this aim, the County Council invited the town and community councils and the businesses, community and voluntary sectors in each of its main towns and the smaller outlying communities which relate to them to join together to develop “town plans”. These will be living documents which will be subject to regular reviews and will set out

- the current situation in the towns
- the key challenges and opportunities which they will face over the next decade
- a vision for each town which will provide it with a sustainable future, and
- realistic and achievable actions which will deliver that vision.

Thus in 2011/12 Denbighshire County Council developed a Town Plan for Corwen which identified community needs and priorities for the town. It did not however address the needs and priorities of the smaller rural communities associated with Corwen. The Council agreed in 2013 to expand the Plan to cover these more rural communities.

Together, these documents form the Corwen Town & Edeyrnion Area Plan.

CORWEN TOWN PLAN

“LOOKING FORWARD TOGETHER”

2013 – 2020

Revised 29/07/2013

CORWEN

Corwen sits at the foot of the Berwyn Mountains at the western end of the Dee Valley. Corwen is well known for its strong association with Owain Glyndwr, one of Wales' most renowned heroes, with Corwen and its surrounding area being his ancestral homeland. The Owain Glyndwr Society is a well established community group in the town.

Corwen and its surrounding area have several interesting historic buildings such as Llangar Church, Rug Chapel, the Owain Glyndwr Hotel, the Church of Saints Mael and Sulien and Corwen Manor which was originally a workhouse.

Corwen is in the Clwydian Range & Dee Valley Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty and sits by the River Dee. The hillfort Caer Drewyn is one of the best preserved Iron Age hillforts in Wales. A variety of walks access the natural beauty of the area.

Corwen has a leisure centre with a swimming pool, fitness suite and sauna, squash courts and all weather pitch. The town has a Sports Pavilion with pitches and there has been a major investment in play equipment in the adjacent War Memorial Park. The town has a Healthy Living Centre with co-working office space set up for different organisations to use.

Ifor Williams Trailers is a major employer in the Corwen area along with Corwen Forestry, Wholebake, Bart Spices, Ruth Lee and the agricultural sector. Rhug Estate to the west of Corwen runs a very successful organic food shop and restaurant and is also the venue for the "Cneifio Corwen Shears" lamb shearing competition which takes place each year at the end of July.

The A5 trunk road runs through Corwen town centre.

The population of the town of Corwen is 2,325.

The town also serves a number of rural villages and settlements including Cynwyd, , Llandrillo, Carrog, Glyndyfrdwy, Gwyddelwern, Betws Gwerfil Goch, Melin y Wig and Bryneglwys and these communities are the home to a further 2,330 people.

Where we are now

(The actual figures are shown in the Statistical Appendix.)

People

Compared to the county as a whole, the Corwen ward has

- fewer people aged over 65 (and there are significantly fewer in the town of Corwen),
- the same percentage of over 85's,
- more young people under 15,
- more households claiming housing or Council Tax benefit, and
- fewer households are overcrowded.

Community

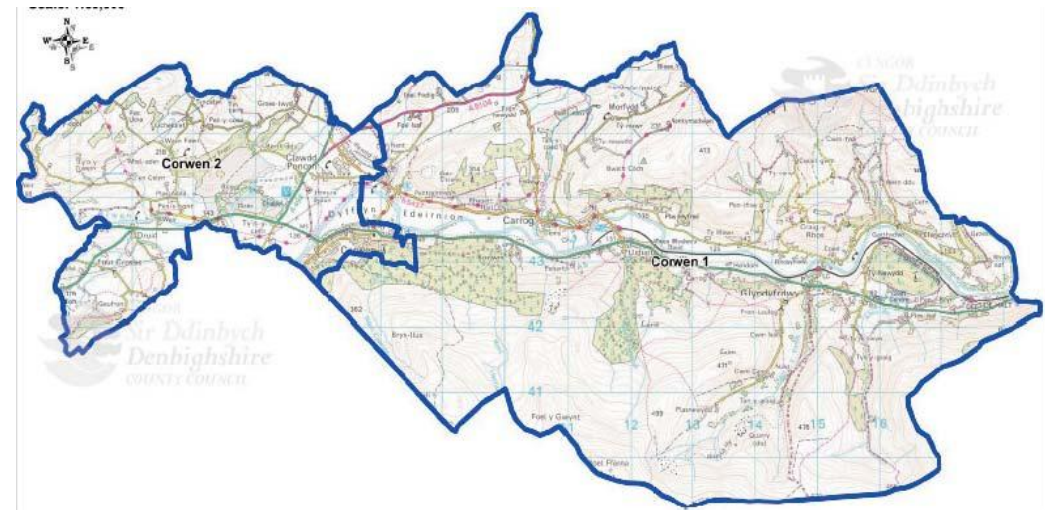

Compared to the county as a whole, more people in the town of Corwen

- have been born in Wales, and
- significantly more people can speak Welsh.

The crime rate in Corwen is lower than the average rate for the County, particularly for incidences of violence against the person, criminal damage and theft and handling.

The Welsh Government uses a formula to measure deprivation. Wales is split into 1896 areas which are smaller than County Council wards which are called "Lower Super Output Areas". Each of these areas is then ranked with the most deprived given a score of 1 and the least deprived as score of 1896. The scores in different years are not directly comparable because the way in which the index is calculated changes over time.

Lower layer super output area	Ranking in 2005	Ranking in 2008	Ranking in 2011
Corwen 1	1094	1074	1161
Corwen 2	907	963	940

Map showing the Lower Super Output Areas in Corwen

Jobs

Compared to the county as a whole,

- a higher percentage of people work in manufacturing
- a higher percentage of people work in agriculture
- more people commute more than 20km to work, and
- a lower percentage of people of working age claim Job Seekers' Allowance.

Average annual household incomes in Corwen are higher than the average for the County.

The place

Corwen currently has one of the highest percentages of vacant town centre retail units in the County. This figure is also higher than the national average. However, at least three of the units are subject to enquiries or are under development and once these are back in use, the vacancy rate will be much lower than either that for the County or the UK.

Vacancy rates for retail premises – Autumn 2011

Corwen	15.6%	(7 units)
UK	13.3%	(Colliers International)

The principal visitor attraction in the Corwen area currently is the Rhug Estate, which has around 350,000 visitors a year. The railway is also expected to be very popular when it arrives in the town. The line to Carrog currently carries c 100,000 passengers per annum.

There are 44 bed spaces in graded visitor accommodation in the town and there is also a 5* “restaurant with rooms” nearby at Llandrillo.

There is a proposal for a Hydro scheme in the town.

Future challenges and opportunities

People

Primary school provision is currently being reviewed in the area.

Community

There is a lack of community buildings in the town.

The Pavilion is in a dangerous state of repair.

There is no disabled access to the first floor in the Library/One Stop Shop.

The British Legion Clubhouse is in a poor condition but still in use.

There are thriving Beavers and Cubs groups in the town.

The civic amenity provision for the disposal of household waste is currently a very limited service.

Jobs

The construction of an extension to the Llangollen railway and a new temporary 4 car platform east of the town centre is scheduled for completion in 2014. An increase in footfall of up to 90,000 people is expected when the railway extension is complete.

There is an aspiration amongst local organisations to develop and operate visitor facilities which would complement the extension of the railway including a new railway museum and an attraction in the adjacent former chapel.

A further extension would bring the railway closer to the town centre and this would encourage passengers to disembark and spend more time in Corwen. Including an 8 car platform and a loop in the second extension would enable trains hauled by steam locomotives to the town which would make the journey a more attractive proposition altogether.

Place

There are some strong brands associated with the area including Ifor Williams Trailers, Rhug Estate Organic Farm and the Llangollen Railway.

The Arts Council for Wales has indicated a willingness to part fund an arts trail in Corwen.

The privately owned Commerce House is a prominent building on the A5 which is in a very poor state of repair.

Possible development of an Owain Glyndwr trail by the Owain Glyndwr Society.

The appearance of the old fire station building needs some attention.

Large and heavy vehicles are using the narrow Green Lane route causing congestion. This could potentially be addressed by directing them to use alternative route following the improvements to the traffic light controlled junction to the west of the town.

The library and One Stop Shop are closed on Wednesdays and on Friday afternoons which could be busy days for the forthcoming railway.

Vision for Corwen

We want Corwen

- to offer an enviable quality of life which is attractive to residents of all ages,
- to have the range of community facilities and transport services required to address the town's relative isolation from larger centres of population,
- to be the main centre for manufacturing in the south of the county, and
- to offer a brilliant experience for visitors to the area

The Links between the Town & Area of Edeyrnion

Corwen developed at a natural cross-roads in the Vale of Edeyrnion . The town is a focus for and has a natural affinity with the following villages: Cynwyd, Llandrillo, Gwyddelwern, Betws Gwerfil Goch, Melin y Wig, Bryneglwys, Carrog and Glyndyfrdwy. The area name of Edeyrnion derives from early medieval times.

This is a mainly rural area dotted with medieval churches and threaded through by the River Dee and the Heritage Railway line. It is renowned for its support of eistedfodau and the first Urdd was held in Corwen in 1929. Owain Glyndwr's ancestral lands are here and he is commemorated every year in September on the anniversary of his investiture as Prince of Wales in 1400.
